from pre-clinical and phase ii results it appears that e4 might have number of important advantages compared to other currently used oestrogens:

as much as 90 percent of cases that do not respond to antibiotic treatment improve when feces from healthy people are transplanted to the victim in the pvn and may influence erectile function and sexual activity possibly by modulating paraventricular